Conformation Championship Guidelines

These Guidelines explain the procedure for a dog to become a Champion in the International Windsprite Club (IWC). If the dog is a Windsprite, either intact or altered, or if the dog is a Smooth Windsprite of Longhaired Windsprite Descent, then it is eligible to obtain an IWC Championship, if said dog has been registered with the IWC.

Regular conformation Championships are offered for intact Windsprites, and intact Smooth Windsprites of Longhaired Windsprite Descent.

Non-Regular Championships are offered for altered Windsprites and altered Smooth Windsprites of Longhaired Windsprite Descent.

~~~~~

There are two types of conformation championships offered by the IWC. The first is a Junior Championship (JCH), for dogs under the age of one year. The second is an Adult Championship (CH), for dogs one year of age or older.

Championships are based on the quality of the individual dog itself, whether or not there is any other breed competition present in a given class, group, or show.

Junior Championship: A dog less than one year of age must accumulate 7 points to achieve its IWC Junior Championship. These points are based on the rating of each Championship Certificate (CC) awarded. A rating of 70-79.99 receives 1 point. A rating of 80-89.99 receives 2 points. A rating of 90-100 receives 3 points. One rating must come from the 90-100 range. One rating must be awarded when the dog is 8 months of age or older. One rating must be awarded by a judge in a show setting. The remainder of the ratings can be awarded by IWC approved evaluators in a non-show setting. CC ratings must be done by 3 different judges or evaluators.

A list of approved Junior Championship Official Evaluators may be found in the files section of the IWC Members Facebook group and on the website.

Adult Championship: A dog one year of age and older then must accumulate 12 points to receive its IWC Adult Championship. These points are based on the rating of each Championship Certificate (CC) received. A rating of 70-79.99 receives 1 point. A rating of 80-89.99 receives 2 points. A rating of 90-100 receives 3 points. Two of the ratings must be 90-100. If a dog is awarded a Junior Championship, this will count as one point toward its Adult Championship, in which case only eleven more points based on the CC ratings are needed. CC ratings must be done by 4 different judges in a show setting.

Use of a CC Form: The awarding of a CC rating is determined through a numeric evaluation using a preprinted Championship Certificate (CC) form, which is supplied by the IWC. This is an evaluation form and is divided into sections based on typical breed standards, i.e., head, neck, shoulders, back, movement, etc. Blank CC forms may be obtained from the IWC Registrar or President by either the club sponsoring the show, or by an exhibitor, who should send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the IWC, at the time they request approval for sanctioning of a particular show that is not specifically IWC sponsored. Sanctioning for a non-IWC show can be obtained by contacting the IWC at least three weeks in advance of the show date, to allow for enough time for the IWC to mail CC forms to the exhibitor, or to the show-giving club. Blank CC forms may be photocopied.

It is not the judge's, or the evaluator's, responsibility to have blank CC forms available. At a show, the judge is to be given the CC form, which has the dog's information on the front page already filled out by the ring steward before the exhibitor comes into the ring. For non-IWC shows, it is the exhibitor's responsibility to make sure the judge understands the use of the CC forms, and has a Standard for the breed the exhibitor is showing. The exhibitor should always bring a copy, or two, of the breed Standard along with them to all rare breed shows.

The CC is completed for each dog by the individual judge or evaluator. When a dog is entered in an IWC sponsored, sanctioned or approved show, the judge will do an evaluation of the dog on a copy of the CC. The evaluation sections of the CC are to be filled out by the judge, or the evaluator, based on their opinion of how well the dog fulfills the Breed ideal, as set forth in a particular Breed's Standard. The CC is laid out in a Point Rating box format, with space for an additional written evaluation, where the judge or evaluator may add additional comments, if they so desire. The additional written evaluation may be as brief or as lengthy as the judge or evaluator desires. If the breed has a Point Scale in its Breed Standard, that may be used by the judge or evaluator as an aid in filling out the Championship Certificate form.

At the bottom of the CC there are three (3) Final Ratings; Superior (90-100), Average (80-89), and Fair (70-79). Referring to the CC Point Rating section, the judge, or evaluator, then adds up the Total Points to determine which Final Rating is to be circled. The judge, or evaluator, will then circle the appropriate Final Rating based on the Total Points. For a show, at the end of the class, after the judging is completed, the Show Secretary, or the Exhibitor, fills out the name of the exhibitor and the dog's name on the CC form, records the CC rating on the judging sheet, and gives the CC form to the dog's owner. When the dog is evaluated in a non-show setting, the Exhibitor fills out the dog's name on the CC form, after the dog is evaluated by the IWC-approved evaluator. It is the responsibility of the evaluator to report the rating to the IWC for its record-keeping. It is the responsibility of the exhibitor to retain the completed CC forms.

When the dog has accumulated 7 points for a Junior Championship or 12 points for an Adult Championship the IWC will then award the appropriate Championship Title, either a JCH or a CH, based on the dog's age at the time of being awarded the CC forms. The Championship Title will be mailed to the exhibitor in as timely a manner as is possible.
